

SECTION 16

Rental Regulations, Licensing & Property Management

Execution Realities & Strategic Insights

Human-led intelligence supported by AI precision.

This section clarifies execution realities behind rental income. It is designed to bridge the gap between investment theory and operational practice.

Directory Principle: Yield depends on MANAGEMENT and REGULATION
, not projections.

The Profile of Long-Term Rentals

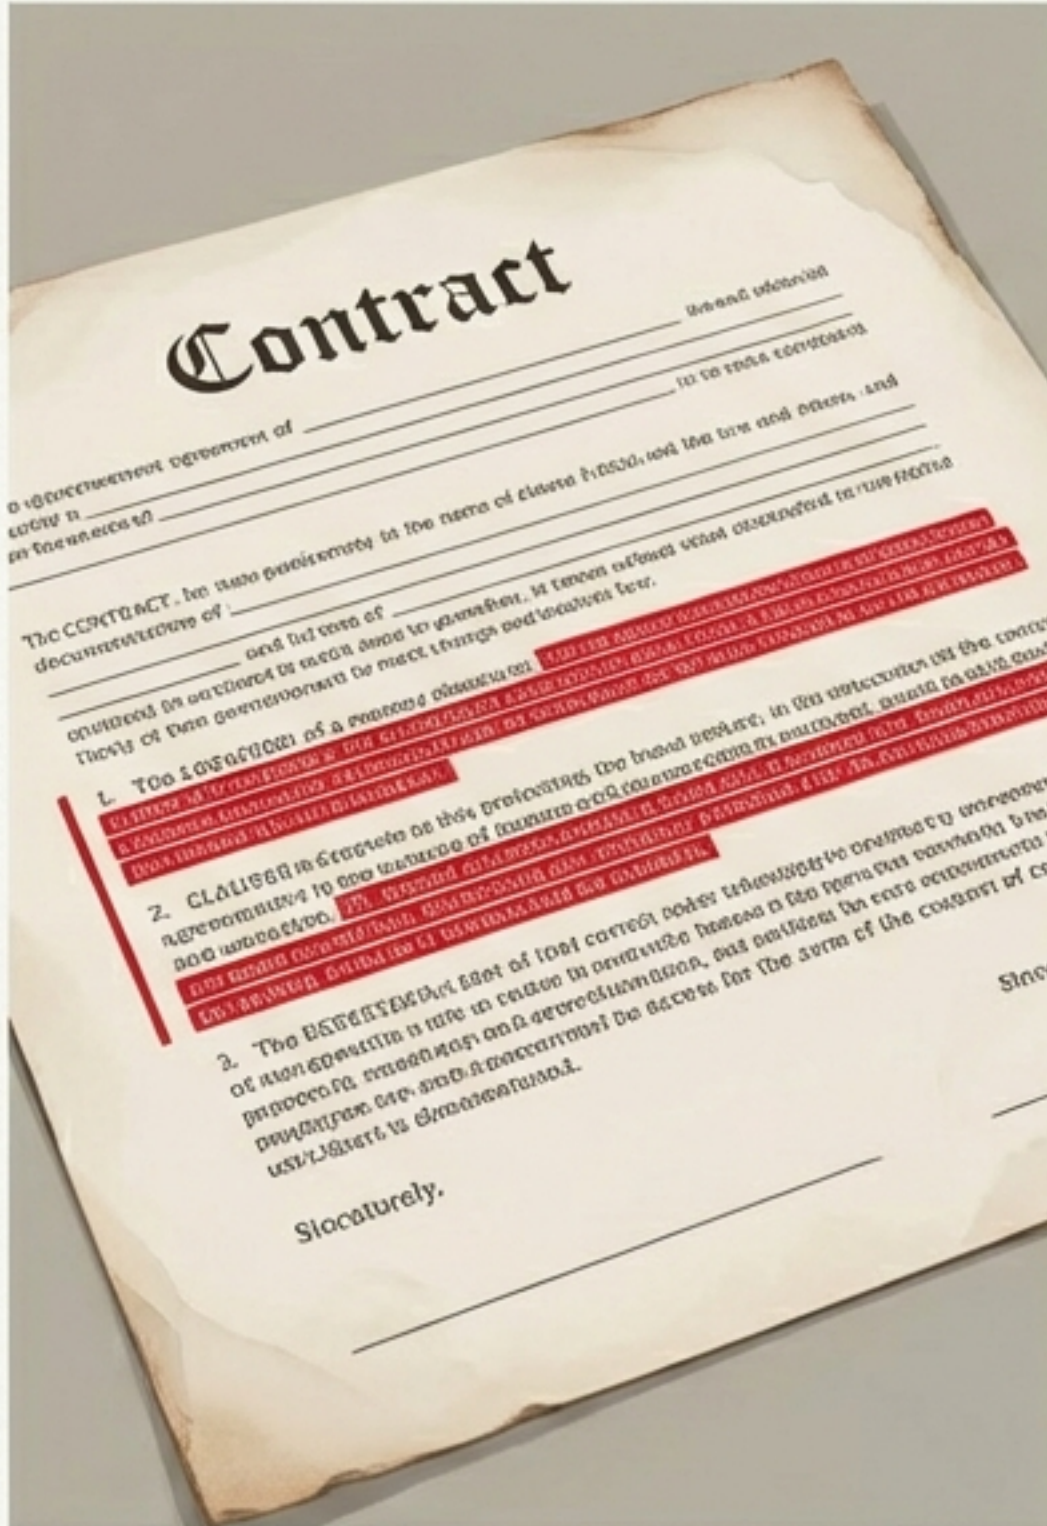

Characteristics

- Generally unlicensed
- Governed by contract law
- Stable in non-touristic cities

Target Geography

- Nicosia
- Larnaca
- Select Limassol zones

Certain older tenancies or qualifying properties may fall under Cyprus Rent Control protections.

- Impact 1: Affects eviction mechanics.
- Impact 2: Affects rent adjustment mechanics.

Legal advice is required before assuming 'easy exit'.

The Dynamics of Short-Term Rentals

Seasonality

Highly seasonal operations dependent on peak tourism months.

Location

Heavily concentrated in designated tourism zones.

Regulation

Subject to local and evolving municipal regulations.

Short-Term Operational Risks

Income Volatility

Revenue fluctuates significantly with seasons and market trends.

Operational Intensity

High turnover requires constant management, cleaning, and upkeep.

Regulatory Risk

The legal landscape for short-stays is becoming stricter.

The December 2025 Compliance Deadline

For 'Self-Catering / Sharing Economy' Accommodation

Subject to Deputy Ministry of Tourism
registration.

Special label and registration number required.

Mandatory for all advertising and operations.

The Three Pillars of Property Management

Professional property management is not an optional luxury, but an operational necessity.

- 1. Essential for Foreign Owners.
- 2. Fee-Based Structure.
- 3. Critical for Tenant Retention & Compliance.

The Cost of Passivity

DIRECTORY RULE:

Hands-off expectations often result in underperformance.

A large hot air balloon with a red and white striped upper section and a blue lower section. The RE/MAX logo is prominently displayed on the white section. The balloon is floating against a clear blue sky with scattered white clouds. The basket of the balloon is visible at the bottom, with a small figure of a person inside.

RE/MAX Smart Concept

Human-led intelligence supported by AI precision.